

Supporting Students with Learning Disabilities in High School Science

Marian Grogan

EDC Center for Science Education (2006) . <http://cse.edc.org/products/supportingStudentsLD/>.

Summary

This Web resource is for general and special education teachers and administrators. It highlights the work of researchers and practitioners who are developing models, programs, and technologies to make high school science more accessible to students with learning disabilities.

View text here