LSC-Net is a web-based, interactive community for enriching the work of Local Systemic Change (LSC) initiatives throughout the country and for supporting collaboration among them. TERC moderates and provides infrastructure for the site, facilitating the exchange of resources and materials among LSC projects, including reports from the field and information on best practices. The site also features an interactive database of all LSC projects and affiliated staff. The project provides online activities to augment the yearly meetings of LSC project leaders. Funded by the National Science Foundation.
